

Dean's Remarks • January 11, 2022

Dear Students,

I hope you are enjoying a restful winter break and are ready for the semester ahead. As we move closer to the start of classes, we wanted to share some updates, stories, and helpful information to keep you informed. Please take the time to read this issue of the Dean's Remarks and stay connected to our community. Looking forward to seeing you again soon and hearing about all that you are experiencing and accomplishing at SPS.

CENTER FOR GLOBAL AFFAIRS ANNOUNCES THREE RECIPIENTS OF AFGHAN CRISIS FELLOWSHIP

The NYU School of Professional Studies Center for Global Affairs, in response to the August 2021 Taliban take-over of Afghanistan, created three openings for one-year, non-residential Fellows for Afghans forced to flee because of their work, identities or convictions. The Fellowships provide opportunities for Afghan scholars or leaders in civil society, government, politics or the media, to pursue a program of research or advocacy in the area of global affairs in 2022, under the sponsorship of a CGA faculty member. The three awardees, who were selected from a wide range of applicants, were recently announced.

REAL WORLD PRUDENTIAL CENTER COURSE CHALLENGES STUDENTS TO FIND SOLUTIONS FOR BUSINESS PROBLEMS

This past fall, as part of the NYU SPS Real World portfolio of courses, students from across the School were challenged to focus their energies on creating a plan for the redevelopment of the area around the Prudential Center in Newark, NJ. Taught by Shawn Amsler, an adjunct instructor at the NYU SPS Schack Institute of Real Estate, the course provided the opportunity for students to solve a real-world business problem for a real-world business.
